

Science in my

★ Science is everywhere! Because of science, you can learn about the world around you, text your friends, eat safe food and drink clean water, play games, and explore the universe. Write or draw your own connection to science. Be creative! Show what science means to you with a picture, story, or poem. Be a force for science and find the science in your life. Share a picture of your work on social media with #ScienceInMyLife.
